

CV of Invited Faculty

	Chun-Jui Huang
Position	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Attending physician 2. Assistant professor 3. Visiting scientist
Department, Affiliation	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Division of Endocrinology and Metabolism, Department of Medicine, Taipei Veterans General Hospital, Taiwan 2. National Yang-Ming Chiao Tung University, Taiwan 3. Department of Molecular physiology and biophysics, Vanderbilt University, Tennessee, USA
Major Field	Thyroid disorders, iodine nutrition, diabetes and endocrinology
Professional Activities: (Career or membership)	Doctor of Philosophy (PhD), Institute of Public Health, School of Medicine, National Yang-Ming University, Taiwan Department of Medicine, Fu-Jen Catholic University Hospital, Taiwan
Short Bio (in 150 words):	Dr. Chun-Jui Huang is an esteemed attending physician in the Division of Endocrinology and Metabolism at Taipei Veterans General Hospital, Taiwan, where she served since 2016. Her PhD in Public Health was completed at National Yang-Ming University (2016–2021). As an Assistant Professor at National Yang-Ming Chiao Tung University, she teaches and performs research in the field of iodine nutrition and thyroid disorders. She is currently in Professor Nancy Carrasco’s lab in the Department of Molecular Physiology and Biophysics at Vanderbilt University, Tennessee, USA studying the molecular structure and function of the sodium-iodide symporter.

The information will be shown on the website and conference materials only.